« What is a “great lawyer”?

It is a lawyer who is useful to the judges to help them decide in a just way, useful to the client to help him defend his case. A useful attorney is one that only talks as strictly required, who writes concisely and clearly, who does not invade the courtroom with his overwhelming personality, who does not annoy the judges with his prolixity, nor does he embarrass them with his subtlety: precisely the contrary, thus, of what some may consider as a “great lawyer” ».

Piero Calamandrei, Italian writer, lawyer, professor, 1954.

SELECTED EXPERIENCE

Lawyer at the Paris bar since 2008, my practice focuses on business litigation, assisting companies in complex international disputes. I advise my clients in all types of dispute resolution cases as I have a strong expertise in international arbitration and mediation. Indeed, I am registered as a judicial mediator at the Paris Court of Appeal since 2019. Finally, I advise my clients in the negotiation, drafting and implementation of complex international commercial contracts and construction contracts.
